LACERA is excited to announce the appointment of Lou Lazatin as Chief Executive Officer.

Lazatin brings to LACERA over 30 years of service-oriented leadership experience in large and complex organizations within the for-profit and nonprofit sectors, and joined the organization as of November 19, 2018. She succeeds Robert Hill, Interim Chief Executive Officer, who served for 14 months and provided excellent leadership based on his 25 years of service with LACERA. Hill returns to his prior position as Assistant Executive Officer and is assisting in Lazatin's transition.

Lazatin has deep experience in the healthcare industry, which will enhance her efforts of ensuring that LACERA delivers benefits in an effective, member-friendly manner. She joins LACERA following her most recent position as CEO at Shriners Hospitals for Children of Southern California. To improve the quality and expand the availability of pediatric surgical services at Shriners, she established a partnership with Huntington Memorial Hospital, including the construction of a $100 million medical center in Pasadena.

Lazatin previously served as President and CEO of Saint John’s Health Center in Santa Monica, where she ran a $252 million fundraising campaign and oversaw the improvement of quality and safety measures, resulting in HealthGrades naming Saint John’s as one of “America’s 50 Best Hospitals.” She also led completion of the construction of the replacement campus of Saint John’s Health Center after the Northridge earthquake.

Among other community efforts, Lazatin currently serves on the Board of Trustees of the Pasadena Ronald McDonald House.

The national CEO search process was thorough, encompassing the review of over 200 candidates.

Lazatin spent her first few weeks on the job getting to know LACERA’s employees and culture, as well as developing an understanding of members’ specific needs and how LACERA can serve them better. Emphasizing the bright future that lies ahead of the organization, she says, “LACERA is recognized in California and around the nation as a best-in-class fund in its space, and I’m honored to have the opportunity to lead it through its next stage of development. I look forward to working with the amazing team at LACERA to continue to provide our members with high-quality services, a promise of security and transparency, and a flexible, friendly approach to delivering benefits.”
New Year, New Horizons

As 2018 draws to a close, so too does my 14-month tenure as LACERA’s Interim Chief Executive Officer, a position I was honored to fill from the time of Gregg Rademacher’s retirement to the appointment of our newly hired permanent CEO, Lou Lazatin.

Making sure that you can retire with security and confidence after dedicating your career to public service has been one of the most enriching experiences of my own working life, while seeing firsthand the dedication of LACERA’s various department employees in serving our membership has been nothing short of inspiring.

I’m truly proud of what we have accomplished at LACERA in the last year: We helped record numbers of active members retire, surpassed our funds’ annual policy benchmark returns, and continued to offer a high level of service and benefit programs as part of fulfilling our mission. As is true of all large endeavors, it has truly been a team effort: I’ve been ably guided by our Boards; worked closely with an experienced executive team; and enjoyed the support of our skilled staff in achieving these goals.

The depth of talent, commitment, and integrity demonstrated at all levels of our organization leaves no doubt in my mind that LACERA’s foundation is strong, and I feel extremely confident that our future is in good hands. I am staying on temporarily as Assistant Executive Officer with plans to retire in the first quarter of 2019, and am working in partnership with incoming CEO Lazatin to assure a seamless transition. Her engaging leadership style, fortitude, and vision will be true assets to LACERA moving forward.

In closing, thank you for the trust you have placed in me and LACERA. I wish you all the happiest of holidays.

"Joy is not in things; it is in us." — Richard Wagner

TO ALL OF OUR MEMBERS

We wish you peace, health, and happiness this holiday season and throughout the year.

LACERA Receives PPCC Award

In November, LACERA received the Public Pension Coordinating Council’s (PPCC) Public Pension Standards 2018 Award, in recognition of meeting professional standards for plan funding and administration as set forth in the Public Pension Standards. These standards are intended to reflect minimum expectations for public retirement systems management and administration and serve as a benchmark by which all defined benefit public plans should be measured. LACERA is a 16-time recipient of this important award.
This year’s Popular Annual Financial Report (PAFR), which reports on LACERA’s financial condition and accomplishments for fiscal year 2017–2018, is enclosed for your review. We have expanded this year’s PAFR to include additional important information and make it more reader friendly. We encourage you to spend some time reading up on the financial status of our pension plan and retiree healthcare program, and see how the trust funds are performing. Our full Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) will be available on lacera.com in January 2019.
One in three people 60 years or older will develop shingles. How can you avoid being one of them?

Shingles, also known as zoster or herpes zoster, is a painful skin rash caused by the varicella zoster virus. Here’s what you need to know:

• Shingles is caused by the same virus that causes chickenpox. Even after chickenpox clears, the virus remains in the body. It often reactivates as you get older.

• The older you are, the more likely it is that you will develop long-term pain from shingles, and the more likely this pain will be severe.

• Shingles may also lead to vision loss, neurological problems, pneumonia, hearing problems, and even death.

So, what can you do? Talk to your doctor about getting the shingles vaccine, which:

• Reduces your risk of shingles

• Reduces your risk of long-term pain and other complications if you do get shingles

• Generally causes no serious side effects (except mild temporary reactions like a headache or soreness/itching where you receive the shot)

• Is safe unless you are pregnant, have a weakened immune system, or are allergic

Great Tips, Tasty Food, and Good Times at the Fall Workshop

As members learned at our Fall 2018 Staying Healthy Together workshop, eating the right foods is key to fighting diabetes. They especially enjoyed the great nutritional tips from our speaker, plus the healthy cooking demonstration with recipes and tasty samples. And they had a blast at our new photo booth—complete with Halloween costumes! All of this, combined with chair massages, glucose and blood pressure screenings, and games provided by our health plan vendors, added up to a very fun and educational day. Want to join us next time? Watch your mail for details in a few months about our April 2019 Spring Workshop, or visit lacera.com for updates.
It's the holiday season—so many tasty treats to enjoy! But as we all know, those favorite holiday dishes can add up to extra calories and weight gain. The good news is that you don’t have to give up your favorites to be healthy. Instead, try these simple substitutions to lower your calories, fat, and sugar.

• Love spinach or onion dip? Try low-fat yogurt instead of sour cream in your recipe. And put out vegetables like celery, carrots, broccoli, and cherry tomatoes for dipping, instead of crackers and chips.

• Speaking of crackers and chips, serve nuts for a high-protein, low-carbohydrate alternative. But remember that nuts are high in fat and calories, so just a few will do.

• Can’t wait for turkey? Choose white meat over dark to lower your fat and calories. And be sure to skip the skin!

• Try whole-grain rolls instead of white rolls for a nutritious alternative.

• Use heart-healthy olive oil instead of butter in stuffings and other holiday recipes.

• For a healthy side dish, serve roasted sweet potatoes brushed with olive oil instead of candied yams or white potatoes.

• Can’t pass up holiday drinks and desserts? Lower your fat and calories by choosing hot apple cider over eggnog and pumpkin pie over pecan pie.

And try these tips at parties to help manage your appetite:

• Don’t arrive hungry: eat a small, high-protein snack before you leave.

• Bring a healthy dish that you can enjoy guilt-free.

• Stand more than an arm’s length away from food while you talk to others.

• Fill up on healthy foods before trying higher calorie options.

• If you think you want second helpings, take a break for 20 minutes, then ask yourself if you really want more.

• Drink lots of water to fill yourself up and ensure you stay hydrated.

Being active can also help you stay fit while you celebrate. But it can be challenging to stick with your exercise schedule when you’re busy with holiday fun. Here are some ways to keep moving.

If you’re mobile:

• Take a walk after large meals.

• Do floor exercises while watching holiday shows on TV.

• Do some extra housecleaning to prepare for holiday guests.

• Dance to holiday music with your friends or family.

• Go caroling around your neighborhood.

• Serve holiday meals for a charity.

• When running holiday errands, take the stairs and walk as much as you can. Try choosing the farthest parking spot instead of the closest.

If you have limited mobility, try chair exercises, exercise bands, or simple stretches while in bed or on a chair. And water exercises can be a great option if you have access to a pool. Whatever your exercise program, try doing it in short spurts rather than skipping it because you’re busy. And finally, remember that the holidays affect different people in different ways:

• For those with big families and lots of activities, it’s easy to get over-tired. Be sure to take breaks so you can rest, and allow yourself lots of time for sleep.

• For others, the holidays can be a sad, lonely time. Reach out to family or friends, even if you’re just talking on the phone. Or try getting out of the house, taking a walk, visiting your local senior center or place of worship, or volunteering for a charity.

Remember that taking care of yourself is the best recipe for a healthy, happy holiday!

Volunteers Needed for Mediation Program

The L.A. County Department of Consumer and Business Affairs (DCBA) Dispute Resolution Program is accepting applications for retired individuals interested in becoming a volunteer mediator. The program provides a unique and valuable opportunity to learn mediation techniques that can be utilized in your community and place of work. As a volunteer, you will learn the different types of consumer and business complaints that result from transactions in the marketplace. Volunteers work “hands-on” in learning the mediation process, and we will train you at no cost.

In order to become a mediator, you will need to attend DCBA’s mandatory mediation training this winter 2019. Participants will learn the eight-stage mediation model, conflict theory and styles, mediator communication skills, interest-based negotiations, collaborative problem-solving, the mediator’s role, and principles of conflict resolution.

In exchange for the free training, DCBA requires volunteers to provide at least four consecutive hours of volunteer service each week for a total of 150 hours.

If you are interested in becoming a volunteer mediator, please email your request to Maritza Gutierrez at Volunteer@dcba.lacounty.gov.
Twice a month, the L.A. County District Attorney’s Office releases a public service announcement (PSA) called the Friday Fraud Alert to warn the community about current financial scams (some perennial; some seasonal or tied to current events). One of the newest alerts spells out how some scammers are requesting payment for phony services in the form of gift cards.

In the Gift Card Payment Scam, fraudsters call the victims, usually with a sense of urgency, and offer to resolve a purported debt or other problem. The scammers keep victims on the phone, then tell them to buy a gift card, most commonly an Apple iTunes card, and provide the card’s code as payment. Government agencies and most legitimate companies, except for those that issue gift cards for redemption, won’t ask for or accept gift cards as a form of payment.

Visit lacera.com/about_lacera/fraud_alerts.html for a video link with more details about how this type of fraud works and tips to avoid getting scammed.

3 Things

Mistletoe

Most people think of mistletoe as the “kissing plant” they hang in their doorways during the holidays. But did you know that it actually has a less innocuous side? Mistletoe is a parasite that can destroy the hosts it grows on, including traditional Christmas trees such as firs and pines, but it is nonetheless fascinating. Consider these fun facts:

- Mistletoe contains a substance called phoratoxin that is poisonous to humans. However, some ancient cultures considered the plant to have sacred healing properties, and doctors in Europe have recently been using mistletoe extract as a treatment for colon cancer.
- The custom of kissing under mistletoe goes back at least as far as the 1500s in European countries. During the Middle Ages, people there also hung mistletoe in the belief that it would protect them from ghosts and other supernatural mischief-makers.
- Mistletoe shrubs grow on their host plants in strange, basket-like formations popularly known as witches’ brooms. These growths, which can weigh up to 50 pounds, serve as nests for several species of birds and even squirrels.
